MOXEY-PORTER.

On Tuesday afternoon in the parlors of the Central Hotel, the marriage of Miss Annabelle Porter, aged 22, daughter of Mr. John Porter, of near Sherburne, Fleming county, and Mr. James S. Moxey, a young and progressive merchant of the same place, was solemnized by Rev. A. F. Stahl pastor of the Christian church, in the presence of several witnesses, among whom was the groom's brother. The bride is an attractive and accomplished young lady and has many prominent family connections in Fleming county. The wedding was the culmination of a pretty romance which ended when the young couple stole away to this city and were married. They are making a short bridal tour of Western cities and will return to their home in a few days.

LIBERTY HOUSE

Opens For Season—Best Lighted
House In This Market—
Good Start.

The building of the Liberty Tobacco Warehouse in which a loose leaf tobacco sale was held Tuesday, is another evidence of the enterprise and hustling qualities of Mr. C. M. Jones, the general manager.

Less than six months ago this building was unknown, but on Tuesday, when the tobacco market opened, there were upon its floors more than 20,000 pounds of the weed ready for sale, and while the prices were not high, yet they were exceptionally good for the quality offered.

This house has the lowest roof of any warehouse in Maysville, and as a consequence brings the light down to the tobacco. This is a decided advantage over any other house and should appeal to every farmer, to bring his tobacco here, where the light is the best.

The new house is not in the "combine," and is absolutely independent from all the other concerns, its stockholders being farmers of Mason county and this vicinity. This very fact assures those who bring their tobacco here to be sold.

Mr. C. M. Jones, who is the pioneer of the loose leaf tobacco market in this city, is at the head of the Liberty as general sales manager. He started at the Tuckahoe several years ago and then became associated at the Central after the Tuckahoe was sold to the Louisville combine. As manager of the Liberty Mr. Jones will give his personal attention to every crop of tobacco brought to him and guarantees every farmer a square deal.

Mr. A. M. Perry, one of the best auctioneers in the United States, and a top-notch in this market, will do the "erying" at this new house "not in the combine." Every farmer knows him. He gets you the prices. So take your tobacco to the Liberty to be sold.

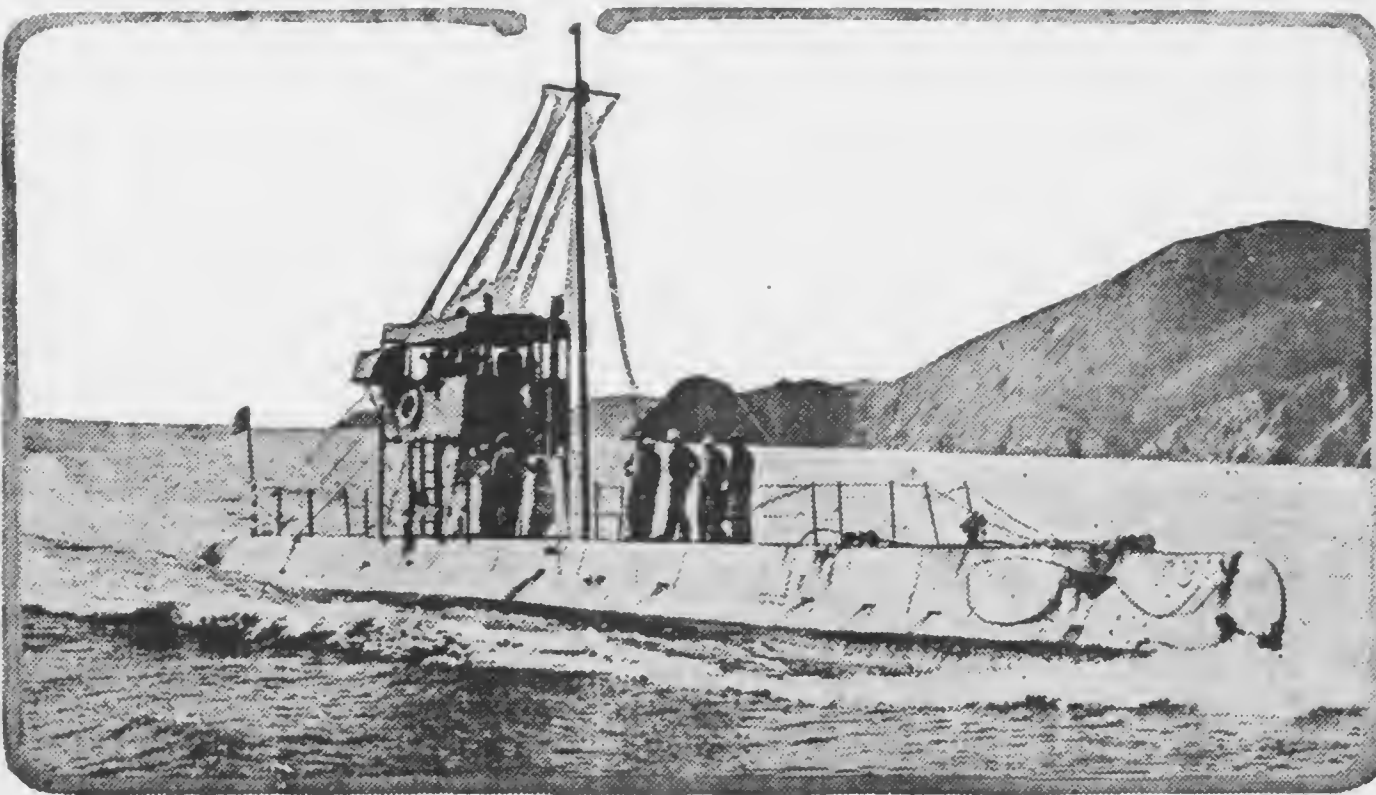

HELD OVER FOR STEALING CHICKENS.

Tuesday afternoon in Police Court, George Fields, colored, of this city, was held over to the grand jury on the charge of stealing chickens. Fields is said to have stolen a chicken from a colored woman of East Maysville, and took it to the home of a lady friend where he had her cook it. In the testimony given by the woman who cooked the chicken she said that Fields ate almost all the chicken and that she was allowed only to pick the bones as pay for cooking the bird. This is the second time that Fields has been held over to the higher court, having been held over several times ago on the charge of stealing a coat from another colored man.

LOOSE LEAF MARKET OPENS

With Good Crowd In Attendance—
155,250 Pounds Sold At Six Houses.

PRICES WERE HIGHER THAN LAST YEAR.

The opening of the loose leaf tobacco market in this city yesterday was much more of a success than had been anticipated, as the exceedingly dry weather that has prevailed in this locality for some time has made it almost impossible to handle the weed, it being too dry.

There was a good sized crowd present at all of the sales, and much interest was manifested as to what certain crops would bring.

The prices were good, being higher than on opening day of last year. This is due to the fact that this year's crop is of a better quality than last year, although the crop will not weigh as heavy as the 1914 crop.

Sales were held at six houses, 155,250 pounds being sold, at prices ranging from $2 to $2.75.

KEEP TO THE RIGHT.

Tuesday an accident was narrowly averted on East Third street when two automobiles and a buggy and a street car were all jammed in a traffic jam. The cause of the jam was that the horse and buggy was on the wrong side of the street and the other vehicles were required to get in each other's way to pass the offending buggy. A few stiff fines would stop this menace to public safety.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Tuesday morning County Clerk J. J. Owens issued a marriage license to James S. Moxey, aged 23, and Miss Annabelle Porter, aged 22, of near Sherburne, Fleming county. They were married by Rev. A. F. Stahl, of the Christian church.

WHO ARE THE BOOSTERS?

Every town has its boosters and its knockers. No community is ever found without them.

We have a healthy respect and a profound admiration for the booster, but our opinion of the chronic knockers would be unprintable.

Why can't we all be boosters in this town?

Why have any knockers at all?

And that brings a question to our mind. Who are the boosters in Mayville? Who are the men and women who always have a good word for it? Who are the ones who always speak well of its people, of its past accomplishments, and of its prospects for the future?

Would like nothing better than to have a vote taken by the whole population, with each citizen naming those he or she considers to be boosters. And then we would like to publish the names of the boosters in this paper and hold them up to the public as just what they are—our most progressive citizens.

When you have a little spare time suppose you just sit down and write out the names of fifty people—men or women—who in your judgment are the greatest boosters for Mayville. It will give you quite an insight into the characters of many people, for it will cause you to weigh their good qualities with their bad ones, their virtues with their vices, and their progressiveness with their slanders.

You might tell your friends what you are doing and ask them to do the same, and then all of you could hand in your lists of fifty in at this office and we could tabulate them and announce the result in these columns.

It would be a deserved recognition of the sterling qualities of the boosters—of the fifty GREAT EST boosters—and it might even spur others up to the point of hustling for our town and climbing into the booster wagon. It might even start you to moving. Who are our boosters, anyway?

A well cooked meal is a powerful aid to love.

There seems to be a lack of team work among Progressives, also. Victor Murdock, national chairman, has just sailed for Europe after giving out a statement that there would be a full third party ticket in the field next year. The same day, at St. Paul, Matthew Hale, Massachusetts member of Murdock's committee gave out an interview saying that it is not decided yet whether the Bill Moose will have a presidential candidate in the field next year, and intimating that it would depend on whether the Republican platform and candidate appealed to the standards of Oyster Bay. Murdock's statement bristled with Bull Moose optimism. Hale's interview was depressing and admitted that there are indications of Progressive disintegration. Whether Hale will have to get off the team is not yet known.

"Difference in judgment from the President of the United States ought not to be interpreted as criticism," said Rabbi Wise, of New York, in a recent sermon. The President himself does not so interpret it. He interprets it as treason. Vide his speech to the D. A. R. and to the Manhattan Club.

Fun---Well Done

No Nebuchadnezzar.

"D'y want all the road?" shouted an irate motor driver, tooting for all he was worth in a narrow country lane. "Pull aside, and let me pass by!" "Whoa, steady now," grunted the farmer, from the top of a load of hay. "I dunno as I'm in any hurry."

"You are looking for trouble, my man!" spluttered the fellow in the car, as the motor throbbed and fumed impatiently. "Are you going to move or not?"

"I don't know as I be in any hurry 't' morning," "Seemed in hurry enough to let that carrying pass just now," smiled the angry one.

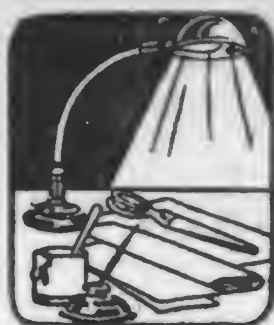

"Oh, ay! But that horse wuz eatin' 'it. I reckon—you don't look hungry."

A young man who last June received his diploma has been looking around successfully for a position. For employment and for a job. Entering an office, he asked to see the manager, and while waiting he said to the office boy:

"Well, dere will be," was the reply. "If de boss don't raise me salary to 'ree dollars a week by 't' tomorrow night."—Christian Register.

Early Rising and Daylight Saving

Millions of people in Europe today have adopted new hours for work, play and sleep. On account of the menace of Zeppelin raids, and the necessity of darkening streets, they go to bed early and are correspondingly soon in the morning. The new schedule of time is popular and may prove permanent after the war.

The idea of daylight saving, by setting ahead the clocks, or other plan to conform more nearly to the hours of the sun, has been much discussed in this country. There is something tonic about the rays of the sun. The wide prevalence of eye trouble is due largely to artificial light. The fresh air of morning have their own charm and they incite to vigorous effort.

Take a date when the sun is rising at 6 a. m., and setting at 5:30 p. m. The man who lies in bed until 7 o'clock is missing at least an hour and a half of daylight. Looking at the hour from the economical viewpoint, he is hurrying electricity, oil or gas for an hour and a half more at night, than would be necessary were he to get up at 5:30 and go to bed correspondingly early. This is quite an item in running a house. If he has a store or a factory, his bill for lights at the end of the day is largely needless.

But prudential considerations like these are lost on the majority of people. Lighted streets, stores, restaurants and places of amusement of city life, set many persons blood-tingling and provoke good cheer. The idea of sitting up late nights after other folks have come to bed suggests a jolly bohemianism. Young persons looking for shady corners are not the only ones who feel that way.

To those of romantic disposition, the hours of darkness have a peculiar charm, while daylight seems prosaic. The philosophers may talk all they want to, but between the sentimentalists, the sports and the young folks, daylight saving and early rising are unpopular causes. The sensible standard time idea was carried out against much opposition, by the united action of the railroads. There is no such unified interest to promote early rising and daylight saving.

Strengthened
With Might

By REV. WM. WALLACE KETCHUM
Director of the Practical Work Course, Moody Bible Institute of Chicago

This is one of four petitions which constitute Paul's prayer for the Ephesian Christians. It teaches us for one thing that God intends his people to be people of power. One speaking of this prayer says: "Paul's prayer is God's purpose." By this he means that what Paul prays we may have and may be, God intends we shall have and shall be. Before every Christian God places potentially ly this blessing of power. That is, every Christian may have this power if he desires it and makes it possible for God to give it to him. For God never purposes for us to have anything, that he does not make it possible for us to possess it. To do otherwise would be to waste and tantalize us, and God never does that. When he exhorts us to "be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might," he makes it possible for us, if we make it possible for him, to be strengthened with might by his spirit in the inner man.

The expression "inner man" undoubtedly means the soul—the inner self—as distinguished from the visible material body which it animates. Peter calls the inner man, "the hidden man of the heart" (1 Peter 3:4). And Paul in another place speaks of it as "the inward man," contrasting it with "the outward man," which, he says, perishes daily (11 Cor. 4:16).

It is very evident from this that the strength which may be ours is not physical power, nor even mental power which many strive to attain, but inner spiritual strength. It is strength of Christian character and nobility of soul.

The one possessing this inner strength is fortified against temptation. It was this strength that enabled Joseph to maintain the integrity of his character in the face of the temptation of Potiphar's wife and prompted him to resist the temptation of the "outward man," which, he says, perishes daily (11 Cor. 4:16).

It is the strength, which when possessed, makes one mighty in holy service. Paul without it, would never have been the mighty apostle; and without it Peter would have remained the vacillating cowardly disciple. Without it there would have been no Martin Luther, no John Knox, no Charles Wesley, no William Carey, no Charles Spurgeon, no Dwight L. Moody. These men were what they were and did what they did, because they were strengthened with might by his spirit in the inner man.

Again, this petition teaches us that God is the one who imparts this inner strength through his holy spirit. The petition is, "that he would grant us to be strengthened with might by his spirit." So while in another place we are exhorted to "be strong in the Lord and in the power of his might," we learn here that the strength by which we are to be made strong comes from God. He is the one who empowers us. Yet, if we are to be strengthened by God, we must place ourselves before God in such a way that he can give to us the strength of the Lord. We of ourselves are impotent, but God has made every provision for impotent people to be people of power. He is able and waits only our willingness for him to impart unto us his strength.

The laws that govern the imparting to us of his strength are the laws that govern the reception into our lives of the holy spirit in power. It is the holy spirit who is spoken of in the word as "the spirit of might." He it is, then, who must have his place of power in us if we are to be strengthened with might in the inner man. The early church was commanded to tarry in Jerusalem for the power necessary for service, and on the day of Pentecost while they tarried the power came, when the holy spirit descended upon them. Ever since that day "the spirit of might" has been in the earth ready to take his place of power in every believer's life. Ready and willing is he to empower the people of God, but ready and willing only as we recognize him as the power we need to make us strong, ready and willing if we surrender ourselves to God, and by faith receive the holy spirit to be in us what he desires to be, "the spirit of might." Then there will be fulfilled in our lives the apostle's prayer which, while primarily for the Ephesian Christians, is also for us that we might be strengthened with might in the inner man.

The greatest truths come not by reason but by inspiration.—Arthur B. Wilson.

TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION SAYS
WE'RE ALL DEFECTIVE

Washington, December 8.—In a plea for every man and woman in the country to join in a movement for an annual medical examination of themselves, which is being launched today in connection with "tuberculosis week" throughout the country, the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis presents figures which show that practically 100 per cent of the supposedly well people of the United States have some physical defect or impairment. About 70 per cent of the defects are of a serious nature, claims the association.

Big Cattle Deal.

(Danville Advocate.)

The four Rankin brothers, of Lincoln county, sold 250 1,300-pound cattle this week. Jay Well, of Lexington, bought 100 at 7½ cents per pound, and Monte Fox got the rest at $7.12½ per hundred pounds. It was the biggest cattle deal consummated in this section for some time.

First In Barren County.

(Glasgow Republican.)

Philip Kopel, of the British woolen mills, of this place, was granted naturalization papers by Judge Jones last Thursday and thereby becomes a citizen of these United States. This is said to be the first instance where this has been done in the county. Mr. Kopel was born in Caucasasia and came to America five and a half years ago, on the Lusitania. He announces his intention to make Glasgow his permanent home. This is a compliment to Glasgow, as Mr. Kopel has traveled a great deal and seen much of the world and prefers Glasgow to any other place.

Last Lily of Fall.

(Glasgow Times.)

It used to be the "Last Rose of Summer," but that has exploded and it's now the "Last Lily of Fall." This beautiful flower was observed on the porch of Mrs. George Walton last Saturday and upon close observation it was discovered to be an angel trumpet in full bloom, there being seven blooming flowers. Since the plant commenced blooming in the summer this marked its third blooming period, twenty-two blossoms having been in full bloom at another time. "Twas a beautiful sight and a bit unusual to see it so rank with blooms at this season of the year.

THE BEST MEDIUM.

Detroit held last week one of the most remarkable gatherings of men ever witnessed in this country, or any other, for that matter. It was a so-called convention of local selling agents of a popular automobile.

It was singular in the fact that the reservations made by these agents, the sum of the cars they all agreed to take and sell during the year 1916 reached the stupendous total of $24,000,000, the amount the agents are to pay the manufacturers.

That is an amount staggering to conception, if not altogether inconceivable, and inconceivable to the extent that one must fail to grasp its full meaning that while this particular make takes first rank as a medium priced car, it is still but one of a score of other popular machines at about the same and even higher price. It is as impressive a demonstration as could be had that the automobile has taken an abiding place in our American scheme of living, the costliest, the most extravagant of all. If you will say it.

But there was an incident of the gathering that was equally significant though by no means so spectacular. This was the word that went out from the publicity department that the day of the magazine as an advertising medium was declining and that of the daily newspaper dawdling to new power and opportunity. And this was made still more significant in the fact that the action followed the word, and hereafter there will be much more exploiting of automobiles in the daily press than has ever been the case heretofore.—Portsmouth Times.

Some one asks what has become of the man who used to make it a practice to walk ten miles a day. Well, probably he has just about now telephoned for his automobile to take him a half mile to his office.

The possibility of having an efficient army and navy is viewed with grave apprehension, as it would be very aptly about distributing jobs among "the boys."

Tobacco Weighs Light.

(Carlisle Mercury.)

Tobacco is going to weigh light this year, it seems. A local tobacco man tells us he saw a crop grown from two acres in Fayette county delivered at the Shelburne warehouse last Friday. Tobacco men who saw the crop come in guessed its weight anywhere from 2,500 to 3,200. The scales showed the crop weighed just 1,500.

Which Was It?

(Hopkinsville New Era.)

When he was in Louisville a night or two ago George Lackey had no opportunity to attend either Madame Melba's concert or a big minstrel show.

For a moment he sat in one of the big leather chairs in the Seelbach lobby and pondered the question, "Which shall it be?"

Then he definitely made up his mind and walked out to buy a ticket.

Whipped the Ram.

(Boone County Recorder.)

As Master Robert Clore, aged about 10, was returning home from school a few days ago he was attacked by a vicious ram as he was passing through his father's sheep pasture. He had been told by his father some time before that in the event he was ever attacked by a sheep to lie down on the ground and he would escape injury. Remembering what his father told him, and seeing no chance to escape an attack by the ram, Robert lay down, drawing himself up, keeping his feet toward the sheep, and every time he was about to deliver a butt he kicked it on the nose. After receiving quite a number of heavy jolts the ram gave up the fight and retreated. The little boy was not hurt.

MORE PROOF ON MARS' CANALS.

Boston, December 8.—Dr. Percival Lowell, of the Flagstaff observatory, in an address delivered last week, describes the newest discoveries made regarding the canals on the planet Mars. He dwelt most on the two canals which made their appearance between 1898 and 1909, and advanced further arguments in support of the hypothesis of their agricultural character. The subject of possible signals from Mars to the earth has long agitated scientists, and there are many who scout the theory. "The objections arise only from those who have never properly observed the planet," declares Dr. Lowell, "or who quote others in the like predicament. It is a case of science versus science to which they can be but one outcome."

Dr. Lowell told his audience that the new canals are 1,000 miles long and of a slender, geometric character, with regular lines of faultless curvature beyond the power of unassisted nature to contrive. For fifteen years the planet has been carefully scanned, he said, at every approach of the earth, but these canals had not revealed themselves. They were there ever new canals, or new employment of fallow ones, either of which alternatives, he claimed, arguing artificiality in their construction.

NAVAL CONSULTING BOARD
MEETS AGAIN.

New York, December 8.—Thomas A. Edison and his fellow members of the Naval Consulting Board are today holding their second meeting in this city, and the various measures and lines of endeavor which they are advocating will be polished up. Further ideas are expected to develop concerning the proposed research laboratory for the navy, which was advocated unanimously at the first meeting, held two months ago in Washington. Just where such a workshop should be placed and how it should be managed so as the maintain strict secrecy are matters that may be urged for discussion by the new board.

NOTABLE BIRTHDAYS TODAY
December 8.

Vice Admiral Henry T. Mayo, U. S. N., commander of the first division of the Atlantic fleet, is 59 years old today. A few years ago he rose to naval fame in the "Tampico Incident," which threatened for a time to grow into large international proportions. It was Mayo, then a rear admiral, who gave the authorities at Tampico twenty-four hours to release the American marines held on shore and to salute the American flag by way of apology. Mayo wanted to take all the responsibility in the case and handle the incident in his own way. But President Wilson, although upholding him in his demand, extended the time limit. Those who know Mayo believe the naval leader could have forced quick apology and thus avoiding the ensuing complications which cost Uncle Sam a deal of expense and worry. Admiral Mayo was born in Burlington, Vt., December 8, 1856, and was graduated from the naval academy at 20. He rose in rank to be rear admiral in 1913, and last June was made the first Vice Admiral the navy has had for many years, by executive order by the President. He was commander of the Mare Island Navy Yard, San Francisco, in 1913, and was selected by Secretary Daniels as one of his aides in Washington. But Mayo is not a land sailor, and he was glad to get back on the sea.

HARVESTING OF SILAGE

Corn Must Be Cut at the Proper Stage of Maturity.

Most Economical Succulent Food That Can Be Obtained for Dairy Cows at a Season When Pasture Is Not Available.

(By WILBUR J. FRASER, Illinois.)
It is of great importance to know at what stage corn should be cut to secure the best results, how rapidly nutriment is stored up in the corn plant as it approaches maturity, and when the maximum amount is reached. To have the silage keep well the corn must be cut at the proper stage of maturity. If cut before it is sufficiently ciently matured, too much acid develops. If too ripe, it does not settle properly and the air is not excluded. Corn should not be cut until the ears are out of the milk and most of the kernels glazed and hard.

The corn should be cut with a corn binder, as it is much more easily handled when bound in bundles. If the silage cutter is large and the work is done with a good force of men, the corn binder should have a start of half a day. If enough horses are used on the binder to keep it moving at a good pace the corn can be cut down as fast as it can be put into the silo.

Using a small cutter with a large engine is dangerous unless great care is exercised in controlling the power.

If silage is to keep well it must settle evenly. To this end the leaves and the heavier parts of the corn must be kept thoroughly mixed and evenly distributed in the silo. Owing to the great pressure of silage, friction with the sides of the silo has a tendency to make the silage less compact at the edge, and for this reason it should be thoroughly tramped next the side. Every time three or four inches of cut material is added to the silo it should be tramped thoroughly around the edge, taking short steps and packing the silage as much as possible next to the wall. These precautions must be observed during filling to obtain perfect silage.

After filling, the top six inches should be wet once and the whole surface tramped every day for a week to obtain a thin, compact layer of well-rooted silage which will exclude the air.

Properly prepared, corn silage is, as a rule, the most economical succulent food that can be obtained for dairy cows at a season when pasture is not available. Although not a balanced ration in itself, it tends to heavy milk production and economical milk can be made by feeding corn silage and a legume hay without the use of much grain.

PLAN TO STORE VEGETABLES
Bruises Form a Place for Decay Germs to Enter—Dry in Sun Before Putting in Storage.

(By H. O. WERNER, North Dakota Experiment Station.)

Vegetables must be stored under the conditions that will keep them in the best condition for use.

In the first place they should be handled carefully. Bruises form a place for decay germs to enter. The vegetable store next to it is little more than a dry atmosphere. Cabbage, celery and root crops keep best at low temperature, with a fairly moist atmosphere and good ventilation. Onions keep best just above freezing in a dry atmosphere. Squash and pumpkins need a dry atmosphere at about fifty degrees. Celery when dug is really transpiring as it has to be kept growing when in storage. Dig it with a good deal of soil on the roots and plant closely in sand or loose damp soil in a cool cellar or pit. The root crops keep best when buried in sand or soil in a cool place. The vegetables, excepting celery, will keep better if well dried in the sun before being stored.

Don't Tolerate Weevils. In your culling weevils should never be tolerated. Kill and bury the runts and crowheads. Roup is infectious and the weevils are the ones to first become infected.

PIPE LINE TO SUEZ

German Plan for Crossing Syrian Desert Indicates Winter Campaign.

New York, December 8.—That Syria may be the battleground between the Germans and Turks against the English forces protecting Egypt is the belief of members of the Syrian colony here. News has come through devious channels to the Syrians in America that great preparations have been made in their home country for some sort of operations. Private advice received here say that the Turks, with the assistance of German engineers, are pushing a railroad toward Suez over 150 miles of desert, and are paralleling it with a water pipe line. Cable advices from time to time have referred to such efforts, but the project was supposed to have been abandoned when the attack on the Dardanelles began.

The tracts of sand to be traversed correspond to the wilderness in which the Children of Israel wandered, according to the Old Testament narrative. The Turkish government, according to a well informed Syrian here is denuding the country in order to put through military measures. The beauty of Palestine and of Syria is being destroyed, he claims. The Turks have cut down the olive trees and other valuable trees, to keep their railroads supplied with fuel. In Syria there is no coal to be had and petroleum is very scarce. The finest woods are going under the locomotive boilers, say the local Syrians, and the sacred cedars of Lebanon are doomed, if not already consumed.

The Turks succeeded months ago in sending troops over the desert waste and one company is credited with having reached the Suez canal. The British aviators kept the allies in touch with their movements, and the venture was a failure. But in that attack the Turks were unorganized, and they relied upon the water which they carried on the backs of mules. The news that comes now, however, indicates that the expected new attempt will be made with the precision of German efficiency. The water mains are being laid from Bir-es-Sebs, the headquarters of the Old Testament where there are wells and the water is to be forced by powerful pumps. The pipes are to be tapped at intervals, so that a supply for troops may be obtained along the desert route.

The indications of German control in that part of the east are revealed in all the advices that have been received. The Germans are counting not only on getting food supplies from the rich agricultural regions of Asia Minor, but also expect, unless circumvented, to use Syria and Palestine as a rallying ground before making an attack on Egypt.

LIQUOR INCREASE
Consumption Per Capita Has Increased Everywhere—People Seem Determined To Use Intoxicants.

The following official facts and figures have been given out and show the quantity of liquors consumed per capita in the United States each year since the beginning of the prohibition movement. The ratio of increase with the adoption of statewide prohibition in several states offers a most interesting comparison for careful study, the figures used being from the official record of annual per capita consumption of liquors.

When there were two prohibition states (in 1850) the per capita consumption of liquor was a little more than four gallons a year.

When there were four prohibition states (in 1880) the per capita consumption of liquor was ten gallons a year.

When there were seven prohibition states (in 1880) the per capita consumption of liquor was sixteen gallons a year.

When there were nine prohibition states (in 1910) the per capita consumption was over twenty-two gallons a year.

The same ratio prevailed in 1914. The various decreases in the consumption of liquor from time to time, followed general business depression. Sharp drops are noticeable following the financial depressions of 1893, 1907 and 1913-14. Since the close of the present fiscal year, ending June 30, 1915, there has been decided improvement in general business conditions, and there has been a marked increase in the consumption of liquors since that time, as shown by recent government reports.

One of the explanations offered for the fact that prohibition has not had a more marked effect in the matter of reducing the per capita consumption of liquors is that it is lawful for persons living in prohibition states to receive shipments of liquor from license states.

For instance, the prohibition law of Alabama provides that each citizen may receive, lawfully, twelve gallons of whiskey a year, whereas the national per capita consumption of whiskey is only about a gallon and a half.

A large number of persons are now recovering from the case of indigestion caused by the unregulated exercise of the thankful spirit.

Accusations is reputed to have written comic songs to promote the digestion of his patients.

TIMELY TIPS.

Stains that have been of long standing may be removed by the application of peroxide with soap, rubbing the spots well; then let them lie on the sun. This process may have to be repeated, but it will get the stain after a few applications. For ordinary stains the peroxide may be put on the wet clothing as it hangs on the line. As it does not injure the fabric it is not necessary to be washed out.

Stains on the hands may be removed by the application of oxalic acid. Get an ounce of the crystals, put them into a bottle, add water as it is used and you will always have a stain remover.

If grease is spilled on the floor, dash on cold water at once to prevent its sinking into the wood. A knife will scrape it away and the spot can then be more easily removed by scrubbing.

A common way to clean chimneys is to lower a brick tied to a rope. Pass it up and down scraping off the soot, afterward collecting the soot from below. Soot in stovepipes may be removed by burning zinc scraps, which may be purchased. Throw the zinc in on a bed of coals and the fumes will clean the chimney.

Those who have no gas in the home may raise hyacinths with good success. Place them in pots in the fall and at Thanksgiving and Christmas you will have beautiful blooms. Placed in glasses where the roots are seen, they make a most interesting study.

To prevent the drops of liquid forming on a meringue, let the pie or pudding cool before putting on the meringue.

Cook strong-flavored vegetables uncovered. All a little soda to cabbage or onions when cooking, as they are thus rendered more digestible.

When baking in a gas oven which is hard to keep from burning things on the bottom, bake cookies on an inverted dripping pan.

Cheese grated and placed on slices of tomato which are placed on rounds of buttered toast are delicious. Set in the oven long enough to melt the cheese.

Nellie Maxwell
Mock Turkey.
Take off the outer skin of a leg of pork and remove the bone and fill the cavity with a dressing like that for turkey. Roll out pie crust and envelop the pork in it, like an apple in a dumpling. Set in an oven (not too hot) and bake. Before serving cut away all the crust and a savory roast is the result, with all the juice intact. It is white and tender and tastes very much like a well-cooked turkey.

Quince Pie.
Peel, slice and stew six quinces until soft. Press through a sieve, add to them one pint of milk and four well-beaten eggs and sweeten to taste. Bake in a bottom crust three-quarters of an hour in a moderate oven.

The Bread of Life.
To four ounces of rice add a little sifted flour, four ounces of sugar and the well-beaten whites of seven eggs. Mix well with a little milk; turn into a well-buttered earthen dish, but do not heap up. Bake a golden brown.

The Tobacco Market Will Open
Tuesday, December 7
Now Open and Ready to Receive Tobacco

The Central, Home, Planters, Farmers and Independent Warehouses. Sold during the season 1914-15 22,110,000 pounds of tobacco at an average of $2.22½. The Burley District averaged $7.21. The above houses sold $1.01 higher. The following markets, Ripley, Brooksville, Augusta, Flemingsburg, Vanceburg, Manchester, West Union and Georgetown, sold 18,047,000 pounds at an average of $7.40, ranging from $5.65 to $8.00. Had this tobacco been sold in the Central, Home, Planters, Farmers or Independent, the growers would have gotten $148,887.50 more money.

We intend that this year's record shall beat last. The above mentioned houses being under one management, will enable us to get you unloaded and sold the day you arrive. If you can't get into one, you can another. Your tobacco will be sorted and handled with equal care in any of our houses. And, remember, no officer or employee will be engaged in speculating in tobacco. But all their efforts and best judgment will be given to the growers in getting the top of the market. Come any time and we will guarantee polite and satisfactory treatment.

J. W. Fitzgerald, Manager

Hundreds of Customer
Waiting For You

Do you know that in this town and farming community there are many families who buy a majority of their goods in Maysville, from some merchant or other?

Do you know that YOU might just as well have a large percentage of this? And do you know that this business is SPOT CASH because the people HAVE THE MONEY and are NOT AFRAID TO SPEND IT?

Do you know that to get this business you must FIRST REACH THE PEOPLE and then know WHAT YOU HAVE?

Do you know that there is no other paper published that reaches these people as thoroughly and as effectively and with as tight a grip as THE PUBLIC LEDGER does?

The buyers in this community are an intelligent class of people, and they insist on knowing something about the goods before they part with their money.

Your advertisement in THE LEDGER will appeal to them because it is THEIR OWN PAPER, and because they KNOW that we do not accept questionable advertisements at any price.

The holiday season, a harvest for merchants, is now on and our people will be buying in large quantities.

Because we feel that you are keen on getting a goodly slice of this business a representative of THE LEDGER will take the liberty of calling upon you within a few days, at a time he will illustrate to you more fully the advantages to be derived from placing a part of your holiday advertising before a class of people who buy liberally and have the with which to pay.

Very truly yours,
Ledger Publishing Company
C. E. DIETRICH, General Manager.

ENJOYABLE ATTRACTION

"When Dreams Come True" Scores Success At Washington—Many Song Features.

The musical comedy, "When Dreams Come True," presented at the Washington Opera House last night, proved to be both amusing and diverting.

The story of "When Dreams Come True" concerns the adventures of a young American, who is stranded in Paris, and his efforts to return to his native land. The complications that ensue furnish much scope for farcical situations and the author has taken full advantage of the opportunities offered. The locale of the different scenes affords opportunity for elaborate scenic display, and some of the most novel examples of the scene painter's art are shown during the action of the play. The first act shows the steering deck of an ocean liner, and this scene has been pronounced by critics to be one of the most realistic ship scenes ever shown on the stage. The last act reveals a view of a ballroom in a New York mansion; this is probably one of the most novel scenes ever shown on the stage, as, in order to get a certain lighting effect, it was found necessary to paint the scene on silk, instead of the canvas generally used. As the trimmings of the scene are of Circassian walnut (the resultant effect is one of extreme beauty).

The dancing numbers, of which there are a nearly a score, show the latest variations of the modern dances, in addition to a number of dances conceived by the producer, which are unique in their novelty and originality.

The song features are many and of the popular lifting sort that will not only please the multitude, but will also appeal to ear of the trained musician. Especially is this true of the title song, "When Dreams Come True," and "Dear World."

SAVAGE WOMEN HEALTHY.

The savage lives in the open, eats simple foods, knows nothing of household drudgery or social life, gets plenty of sleep and exercise and is perfectly healthy and strong, but the civilized woman is a slave to home duties and society, often becomes run-down, nervous and physically unfit to be a companion or a wife. Our local druggists, Pecor Drug Company, have a reliable, non-secret remedy, that is a boon to such women, its component parts being peptonate of iron for the blood, the nourishing properties of beef peptonate and the medicinal extractives of fresh, healthy cod livers, all dissolved in a delicious native wine. It is really wonderful how rapidly weak, run-down women are built up by its use.

PURCHASES OVERLAND AUTO.

FORGET IT!
If you see a tall fellow ahead of the crowd, leader of men, marching fearless and proud, And you know of a tale whose mere telling aloud Would cause his proud head to in anguish be bowed, It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a skeleton hidden away in a closet, and guarded, and kept from the day the dark, and whose showing, whose sudden display, would cause grief and sorrow and life-long dismay, It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

If you know of a thing that will darken the joy Of a man, or a woman, a girl, or a boy, That will wipe out a smile, or the least way annoy A fellow, or cause any gladness to cloy, It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

"THE QUALITY GROCERS"

DOES THE KAISER WANT PEACE?

A story comes by way of London that Kaiser William is reported to have said, although when or to whom is not stated, that he will end the war by being crowned emperor of India in Westminster Abbey in London.

We do not believe that the Kaiser said it. That able man has not had much to say in recent months, but, while he has said little, he has had much to do to hold his lines in France through the summer and to drive back the Russian army.

It is true that the Germans have nowhere won a decisive victory. Even if they do succeed in crushing Serbia and relieving Constantinople, nothing will be settled. So long as the Russian army threatens Germany and Austria on the east and French and British armies face German armies in the west, Germany and Austria remain in peril.

The Kaiser contributed more than any one man to bringing on of this war, and he talked much and foolishly about summoning Divine aid to his arms. This was at the beginning. Since that time he has divided all of his energy to trying to win. He has shown good judgment in picking his generals, it has not appeared that he has anywhere interfered in a way to do harm, and he has kept the German people to their task in a remarkable fashion. Is it, then, a fact that the Kaiser, conscious as he must be of the gigantic task before him, is still dreaming vain dreams of world empire? A more plausible theory is that he is spending more time pondering how he can get out of it all with undiminished prestige.—Louisville Post.
